

STRATEGIC PLANNING

Guiding Principles

- Members of the community trust one another, value each other's opinions, and treat each other with respect.
- Members of the community encourage, recognize and celebrate their own and each other's achievements.
- Academic curriculum encourages creativity, critical thinking, and problem solving, is based on clear learning goals, and is improved through continuous districtwide planning, action, and assessment.
- Students realize their individual potential with the aid of sequential curriculum, varied instructional methods, and integrated learning opportunities.
- Students experience a feeling of safety, well-being, and joy in learning.
- Parents are welcome at school and actively participate as full partners in their children's education.
- Time is flexible; learning is constant.
