February 2019

Dear Emerson Families,

Report cards are coming home on February 7. We hope this sparks a good conversation around areas to celebrate and where your child may want to set some goals. In a recent survey given to students, we discovered many of them don't really think about setting goals past three months. It is a good time to think big about reading, math, writing, or friendship. What goals might they want to focus upon they can celebrate achieving come June. We are looking forward to our annual learning celebration this month. We ask students to consider the many areas in which they've grown and to celebrate their success and hard work. Each grade level is invited to the library to enjoy an ice cream sundae and share their good news with others!

We will be having our annual kick off for our science fair with an evening event on Monday, February 25th. Central and Emerson students will have an assembly that day called Science Magic. The family night performance will begin at 6:30 in the gym. Emerson's science fair is a bit different, in that the focus is on parent involvement. We encourage parents to choose and create a project with their child. You will hear more information about the science fair at this evening event and presentation boards will be coming home with students the following day. We hope to see you then!

Sincerely,

Craig Church
