First and foremost, if you are in need of mental health support, please look into "Apps to Help with Mental Health" from Common Sense Media. (In fact, Common Sense Media is a great site that reviews educational material for every subject, every age.)	Enjoy countless videos from the YouTube Channel "Two Minute Music Theory"!	Watch videos from the J.W. Pepper blog "Cued In". In addition to interviews with composers like Greg Gilpin ("Ding-A Ding-A") and arrangers like Mac Huff ("You Will Be Found"), some videos of interest may include The Importance of Choir, Belt Singing Lesson, and The Eric Whitacre Virtual Youth Choir.
Select your grade, and then explore the music content of PBS Learning Media.	Experiment with sounds via Chrome Music Lab.	Experiment with sounds via Chrome Music Lab.
Try these recommended apps. (All are free, as well as compatible with Android and iOS.) Challenge your own skills, challenge each other - or challenge me! a. Complete Ear	Share short recordings of your work on Flip Grid! Click for SHS or CMS, and then login using your school e-mail (the one that ends in @studentssd.org).	Share long recordings with a positive spin on our new, private YouTube Channel - SHS: Sounds of Hope and Serenity. (This is for CMS too!) Send me videos to review and post, but even more importantly, keep suggestions positive, hopeful, and/or serene.
